

Damien Mannion

• damien@djmannion.net • <https://www.djmannion.net>

Core Skills

- Technical

- Strong computer programming and technical skills
 - Proficient in Python, JavaScript, and Matlab
- Experienced in computer systems administration
 - Extensive Linux experience, including implementation and maintenance of multi-user systems
- Familiar with documentation techniques and technologies
 - Experienced with L^AT_EX, Sphinx, reStructured Text, and wiki platforms

- Analytical

- Extensive education in psychological, behavioural, cognitive, and neural sciences
 - Undergraduate, doctoral, and postdoctoral training in human function and behaviour
- Comprehensive quantitative and statistical skills
 - Acquired, analysed, and managed complex datasets
- Extensive problem solving ability and capacity for novel thinking
 - Extended current body of knowledge regarding human perception

- Communication

- Strong skills and experience in written communication
 - Author or co-author of over 20 articles appearing in leading scientific journals
 - Experienced in verbal communication of complex information
 - Delivered presentations at research conferences and for university-level education
 - Skilled in describing complex processes
 - Documented scientific workflows and protocols and trained others via written and verbal instruction
-

Key Appointments

- Lecturer / Senior Lecturer 2013 – Present
UNSW, School of Psychology Sydney, Australia
 - Research and education.
 - Postdoctoral associate 2011 – 2013
University of Minnesota, Department of Psychology Minneapolis, USA
 - Researched human visual perception using behavioural and neuroimaging techniques
 - Postdoctoral fellow 2010 – 2011
Smith-Kettlewell Eye Research Institute San Francisco, USA
 - Performed behavioural and brain research into human visual perception
-

Education

- Ph.D., Vision Science 2007 – 2010
University of Sydney, School of Psychology Sydney, Australia
 - Bachelor of Psychology (Honours I) 2001 – 2005
University of Newcastle Newcastle, Australia
-